WE offer this little book to the public for the purpose of supplying a want that has long been felt, of precise and accurate information respecting the Educational and Literary facilities of Baltimore. While it is not regarded as exhaustive, nor as entirely free from mistakes, it is complete within its limits, and as free from error as conscientious and persevering inquiry could make it. Few persons have any idea of the labor and expense necessary to produce such a hand book, but we hope that all will recognize and appreciate the effort to present in brief compass a statement, comprehensive in plan and accurate in detail, of the means of literary culture which this growing City affords.

The main credit of the work belongs to Prof. GEORGE L. SMITH, of the State Normal School, who visited personally most of the institutions referred to, and whose careful habits of investigation have ensured all the exactness attainable in such inquiries. Mr. Smith desires to express his obligations to Prof. P. H. UHLER, of the Peabody Institute Library, for valuable assistance; and also to the Managers of the various Schools and Institutions for their courtesy in furnishing the needed information. To the kindness of the Secretary of the Archbishop of Baltimore we are indebted for a full list of Catholic Schools and Colleges, but we regret our inability to obtain any authentic statement respecting the valuable Libraries connected with some of these establishments.

We will consider it a favor to be advised of any omissions or erroneous statements which may be discovered in this hand book; and will take advantage of every source of information to make the next edition as nearly perfect as may be.

JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY.

THE FOUNDATION, AND THE FOUNDER.

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY was founded by the munificence of a citizen of Baltimore, Johns Hopkins, who bequeathed the most of his large estate for the establishment of a University and a Hospital. It was intended that these institutions should coöperate in the promotion of medical education.

The foundation of the University is a capital, in land and stocks, estimated in value above $3,000,000; the foundation of the Hospital is not less in amount. The gifts are free from ecclesiastical and political control. The University foundation is without conditions, except that the capital cannot be used for buildings.

JOHNS HOPKINS was a native of Anne Arundel Co., Maryland, of English stock, whose ancestors were members of the Society of Friends. His life was chiefly spent in mercantile and financial business in the city of Baltimore, where he died December 24th, 1873, at the age of 79 years. His large property was the result of his sagacity, integrity and perseverance, continued through a long life, in a prosperous and growing community.

THE TRUSTEES.

The Trustees are twelve citizens of Baltimore, incorporated in accordance with the General Laws of the State of Maryland, August 24, 1867. On the 6th of February, 1874, they entered on the administration of the trust confided to them by the last will and testament of Mr. Hopkins, and on the 18th of March, 1875, they received from his executors the principal part of the University bequest. Nine of the University trustees are also trustees of the Hospital. The names of the Board are as follows:

GEORGE WILLIAM BROWN,	WILLIAM HOPKINS,
GALLOWAY CHESTON,	REVERDY JOHNSON,
GEORGE W. DOBBIN,	FRANCIS T. KING,
JOHN W. GARRETT,	THOMAS M. SMITH,
CHARLES J. M. GWYNN,	JAMES C. THOMAS,
LEWIS N. HOPKINS,	FRANCIS WHITE.

The President of the Board is GALLOWAY CHESTON; the Treasurer, FRANCIS WHITE; the Secretary, WILLIAM HOPKINS.

THE ORGANIZATION.

The Trustees began their work by visits to other colleges and universities, and by correspondence with well-known men of letters and science in different parts of this country. On the 30th of December, 1874, they elected as President of the University, Daniel C. Gilman, who had been for several years a professor in Yale College, and was subsequently, from 1872 to 1875, President of the University of California. He entered upon his duties May 1, 1875, and spent a portion of the following summer in visiting some of the educational foundations of this country and Europe.

Since the autumn of 1875 the Trustees have been maturing their plans, deciding upon the general principles to be followed, selecting some of the teachers, purchasing books and apparatus, and providing lecture-rooms and laboratories. They have decided that the first year of instruction, commencing October 3, 1876, shall be a preliminary year, in order that the views of the Faculty may be considered on many matters of detail, and that experience may be acquired by a further study of the problem. Accordingly they propose to expend on instruction during the first year less than one-third of their present income.

In the first annual Report, published in January, 1876, the following statement is made:

"Here it is only necessary to place on record the desire that the University now taking shape should forever be free from the influences of ecclesiasticism or partizanship, as those terms are used in narrow and controversial senses; that all departments of learning—mathematical, scientific, literary, historical, philosophical—should be promoted as far as the funds at command will permit, the new departments of research receiving full attention, while the traditional are not slighted; that the instructions should be as thorough, as advanced, and as special as the intellectual condition of the country will permit; that the glory of the University should rest upon the character of the teachers and scholars here brought together, and not upon their number, nor upon the buildings constructed for their use; that its sphere of influence should be national, while at the same time all the local institutions of education and science should be quickened by its power; and finally, that among the professional departments, special attention should be first given to the sciences bearing upon medicine, surgery and hygiene."

BUILDINGS, BOOKS, AND APPARATUS.

Prior to the construction of the permanent University buildings at Clifton, the proposed site in the neighborhood of Baltimore, temporary lecture-rooms are provided in Howard street, next to the Baltimore City College.

In addition to the usual lecture-rooms and class-rooms, an assembly room, a library, and reading room, and spacious laboratories in Physics, Chemistry and Biology, well equipped with the best apparatus, will be provided.

Books, Journals, and Apparatus for the immediate needs of the University have been liberally ordered. In addition to the University resources, the Peabody Library, a well-chosen collection of 60,000 volumes, is open daily for reference and study.

CHARGES FOR TUITION.

The charge for tuition is $80 per annum; laboratory expenses may be to some extent an additional charge. For special instructions in a single branch of science or for permission to attend single courses of lectures, special fees will be announced from time to time.

CALENDAR.

The instructions will begin October 3, 1876, and close in the following June. Short recesses may be expected at the Christmas holidays, and in the spring.

THE ACADEMIC STAFF.

The Academic staff will be composed of four classes:

1. The PRESIDENT AND PROFESSORS,—giving their whole time to the promotion of science and literature in this University.
2. The LECTURERS, many of whom are Professors in other Colleges, and who give courses of lectures during a part of the year in this University.
3. The ASSOCIATES, who are younger men,—some of them independent teachers and some Assistants to the various Professors.
4. The FELLOWS, who are recent College Graduates still pursuing (on a foundation here provided) their advanced studies.

ACADEMIC RECORD OF THE PROFESSORS.

The following sketches of the academic history of the resident professors may serve to introduce them to the citizens of Baltimore.

PROFESSOR GILDERSLEEVE

Comes to Baltimore from the University of Virginia where he has been a Professor of Greek since 1856, and for five years a Professor of Latin also. His early training was received at Princeton where he graduated in 1849. He subsequently studied in Göttingen, (with Professors Lane and Child of Harvard,) and was there admitted in 1853 to the degree of Ph. Dr. The College of William and Mary conferred on him the degree of LL. D., in 1869. He is the author of a series of Latin text books designed for school use, and has edited an edition of Persius. An edition of Justin Martyr with notes, etc., is about to be published; and it is understood that he has been long engaged upon a treatise on Greek Historical Syntax. Various contributions from his pen have been printed in the Southern Review and other periodicals.

PROFESSOR MARTIN

Was invited to the Johns Hopkins University from the University of Cambridge in England, where he is still a Fellow of Christ College. He won repeated honors as an undergraduate of University College, London,—in different branches of Natural Science; and was graduated a Bachelor of Science in 1870, when he was awarded the University Scholarship in Zoology and Comp. Anatomy, and a Bachelor of Medicine in the University of London, in 1871, and a Doctor of Science in the year following,—his special department being Animal Physiology. In 1870 he became a member of the University of Cambridge and received the degree of B. A. in 1874, having, in 1873, stood first in the Natural Science Tripos. He is also a Fellow of University College, London, and has been a Lecturer on Natural Science at Christ College in the University of Cambridge. He was associated with Professor Huxley in the preparation of a Manual of Biology, published in 1875 by Macmillan & Co., and soon to appear in a revised edition.

PROFESSOR MORRIS

Was called to Baltimore from the city of New York where he was a Professor in the University. He is a graduate of Oriel College, Oxford, where he also held a Fellowship. For some time after his arrival in this country he was the head of Trinity School in New York, and afterwards of a private Seminary at Peekskill. He is the author of a Grammar of Attic Greek and of other text books, and of occasional contributions to literary journals.

PROFESSOR REMSEN

Received his early education in the city of New York, where he attended the College of the City of New York, and was afterwards graduated as Doctor of Medicine in the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He then spent five years in the study of Chemistry in Germany. After graduating as Doctor of Philosophy in the University of Göttingen, he was engaged as an Instructor of Chemistry in the University of Tübingen. On his return to this country he became Professor of Chemistry and Physics, in Williams College, Mass., where he remained from 1872 until his call to Baltimore in 1876. Many of his Chemical papers may be found in the American Journal of Science, and in the Journals of Chemical Science published in Germany. He has prepared for the press an American edition of Wöhler's Organic Chemistry, and has nearly ready for publication an original work on Theoretical Chemistry.

PROFESSOR ROWLAND

Is a Graduate (C. E.) of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, of the year 1870, and was subsequently Assistant Professor of Physics in that Institution. He was previously for a short time a member of the Sheffield Scientific School in New Haven. His original investigations on Magnetism, attracted the notice of Prof. Clerk Maxwell of Cambridge, Eng., by whom they were communicated to the Lond., Dub. and Edinb. Phil. Magazine. Subsequent researches of his have been printed in that journal and in the American Journal of Science and Arts. During the year 1875-6, he was engaged in part, in scientific researches in the laboratory of Professor Helmholtz, of the University of Berlin, and in part, in examining other laboratories, and in purchasing physical apparatus for the Johns Hopkins University.

PROFESSOR SYLVESTER

Comes to Baltimore from London, having recently given up his position as Professor in the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich. His collegiate training was received at St. John's College in the University of Cambridge, where he was Second Wrangler in 1837, and subsequently M. A. The degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him in 1871, by the University of Edinburgh. He has been admitted to the honors of many of the European Academies, including the Royal Society of London, of which he is a Fellow; the Institute of France, of which he is a Corresponding Member in the Academy of Sciences; the Academies in Berlin, St. Petersburg, Milan, Naples, Göttingen, etc. He received the Gold Medal of the Royal Society in 1861.

He holds a foremost rank among living mathematicians, being the author of a large number of mathematical papers, the titles of which may be found under 114 numbers in the "Index to Scientific Papers published by the Royal Society," in 1864. In early life, he was for a short time Professor in the University of Virginia, and subsequently in University College, London.

Perhaps the most remarkable of Mr. Sylvester's papers is the trilogy which he presented to the Royal Society in 1864.

Todhunter, in his "Treatise on the Theory of Equations," speaks of this work as follows: "Newton enunciated a rule respecting the number of positive, negative, and imaginary roots in an equation, which remained without demonstration until the recent researches of Professor Sylvester, who established a remarkable general theorem which includes Newton's rule as a particular case." "If we consider the intrinsic beauty of the theorem, the interest which belongs to the rule associated with the great name of Newton, and the long lapse of years during which the reason and extent of that rule remained undiscovered by mathematicians, among whom MacLaurin, Waring, Euler, and Gauss are explicitly included, we must regard Prof. Sylvester's investigations as among the most important contributions to the Theory of Equations in modern times, justly to be ranked with those of Fourier, Sturm and Cauchy."

MODES OF INSTRUCTION.

There will be much diversity in the modes of instruction; lectures, recitations, laboratory practice, field work, examinations, will be employed as means of discipline, according to the discretion of the several professors. It is not intended to prescribe a four years course, but to adopt the instructions to the requirements of individuals. In general, University methods of government and instruction will be followed rather than Collegiate. Unworthy members of the institution will be promptly deprived of the privileges of attendance.

Special students will be received in special departments of study. For those who desire to win the honor of an academic degree,—a matriculation examination, prolonged and regular attendance upon the exercises of the University and satisfactory final examinations will be indispensable. The time requisite for taking a degree will depend upon individual progress; those who come to the University already well advanced in their attainments may offer themselves for the final examinations as soon as they are prepared. More particular statements upon all these points will be made from time to time. For those who desire it, definite courses of study in language, literature, mathematics and the various branches of science will be carefully arranged and prescribed;—but in all cases the authorities will require that the candidate for admission shall be sufficiently mature both in character, and in attainments in knowledge, to profit by the opportunities here provided.

The laboratories of Chemistry, Physics and Physiology are spacious and provided with new and excellent apparatus.

The University will not provide lodgings or board for its scholars; but excellent places can be found in private families and boarding houses in the City of Baltimore. A Registry of such accommodations is kept at the University.

In facilities for advanced study the University will be strong from the beginning, in the departments of Mathematics, Languages, Biology, Chemistry and Physics. It is expected that in other branches the University will be brought up to the same standard at an early date.

As a preliminary indication of the instruction to be given, the following statements have been prepared.

MATHEMATICS.

Owing to the absence of Prof. Sylvester, no detailed statement is made at present concerning the work in the department of Mathematics, but opportunities will be afforded to any one to prosecute mathematical studies to any extent. Full information in regard to the course will soon be set forth.

PHILOLOGY.

In the department of PHILOLOGY, the Johns Hopkins University offers, in the current year:

I. Limited courses of lectures on subjects of literary and scientific interest.

These lectures are instituted, partly in order to present the general outlines of wider ranges of study, partly in order to give the results of investigation within narrower bounds.

II. Special personal instruction in exegesis of authors and in systematic study of the various philological disciplines.

III. The direction of individual research in language and literature, and the organization of the more advanced students into associations for mutual incitement and common effort. Especial regard will be had to the necessary conditions of American philological work; and the promotion of the historical study of language and literature will be the chief aim of the philological department of the University.

BIOLOGY.

The work in this department will be carried on in two divisions; one suited for beginners, the other for advanced students. Dr. H. N. Martin, late of the University of Cambridge, England, will have charge of the department.

I.—Elementary Course.

This is intended for students who have already obtained some knowledge of Chemistry and Physics, wish to acquire some acquaintance with Anatomy and Physiology, whether intending to pursue the study farther or not. The whole course will take about a year, and will commence with lectures and laboratory instruction in General Biology, illustrative of the fundamental facts which have been established in animal and vegetable Morphology and Physiology. This will be followed by special courses in Physiology, Embryology and Comparative Anatomy. All the instruction will be made practical so far as possible, so that besides acquiring a knowledge of the leading ideas of modern biology, the students will gain an acquaintance with the methods and instruments employed in modern biological research.

This course of instruction will not be completely organized until next spring; but arrangements will be made to assist students wishing to commence work before that time.

II.—Advanced Courses.

In this, the arrangements will be adapted to the requirements of those who have already gone through some such preliminary training as that sketched above for the elementary course; and only those who have already gone through some such course, or who afford evidence in some other way of having a knowledge of the subject they wish to work at, will be permitted to undertake the advanced work. Specific instruction will be given to these students; they will be provided with all the laboratory requisites for original research, and will receive assistance and guidance in their work. The Physiological laboratory will be fitted up with the instruments and appliances required in Physiological investigation; and in the Morphological department, arrangements will be made, so far as possible, to supply material to those wishing to investigate the anatomy or development of any special group of animals or plants. In fact, every possible facility will be supplied to those desirous of carrying on research.

In the course of the winter Prof. Martin will give a course of lectures on Animal Physiology; and arrangements will be made for the delivery of lectures on other biological subjects during the year.

CHEMISTRY.

A spacious and commodious Chemical Laboratory is now building on the University premises. It will be well equipped with the best arrangements and apparatus, and every facility will be given for the prosecution of Chemical study, under the direction of Professor Remsen and his associates.

I.—Elementary Course.

For ordinary students, there will be lectures on Inorganic and Organic Chemistry; daily exercises in the Laboratory; qualitative and quantitative analysis.

II.—Advanced Courses.

For advanced students, there will be lectures on special topics, as Theoretical Chemistry, &c.; advanced Laboratory Work; Preparation of Chemical Compounds, inorganic and organic; Combustion of Organic Compounds; investigations in some branch of Chemistry; Reading and discussion of original memoirs in English, German, French, &c.

PHYSICS.

Convenient rooms have been provided for instruction in Physics, and the best modern instruments have been purchased by Professor Rowland in Europe.

I.—Elementary Course.

General Physics: two lectures and two class exercises weekly, beginning with Elementary Mechanics, Pneumatics, Hydrostatics, Acoustics, Optics, and continuing with Heat, Electricity and Magnetism.

II.—Advanced Course.

Special courses for Advanced Students:

- (A) Laboratory practice in experiment and research, according to the needs of each student.

- (b) Lectures on special points, to be announced from time to time.
- (c) Reading, under direction, of special treatises in Mathematical Physics, (French, German, &c.)

Excellent apparatus has been ordered personally from the best makers in Germany, France, England, and America, and only from those who have made specialties of particular classes of instruments.

AFTERNOON LECTURES.

In order to extend the advantages of the University to recent college graduates and to other educated persons resident in Baltimore and its vicinity, the Trustees have arranged that the various courses of Lectures announced by non-resident Lecturers, and also some of those by resident Professors, shall be given at four or five o'clock in the afternoon, from October to June. Two courses of lectures will often be in progress during the same month at different hours. These lectures will be open not only to the members of the University, but also to others who desire to attend them. As these lectures are of an academic and not of a popular character, persons who have not received an academic training will be expected to satisfy the authorities that they are qualified to profit by the courses they propose to follow. Ladies as well as gentlemen may attend.

The fee for a course of twenty lectures will be five dollars; for the entire series of the winter, thirty dollars—if paid in one sum. Tickets of admission will be requisite.

It is not possible to indicate at present with certainty the order of lectures, but the following schedule will be adhered to as closely as may be. Particular announcements will be made from time to time in advance of each course.

TIME OF THE AFTERNOON LECTURES.

N. B. This schedule is preliminary. Persons interested in any particular course should inform themselves by inquiry at the University as to the time finally appointed for its delivery.

SUBJECTS.

1. DR. JOHN S. BILLINGS, OF THE SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE, U. S. A., WASHINGTON,

Will deliver not less than ten lectures, during the month of January, on "The History of Medicine." This course will be continued in the following winter.

2. PROFESSOR FRANCIS J. CHILD, PH. D., OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY,

Will lecture daily, during the month of February, on "Chaucer."

Will be accessible daily, during the same period, to students who desire to consult him in respect to special studies in English Philology.

3. PROFESSOR THOMAS M. COOLEY, LL. D., OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN,

Will deliver a course of twenty lectures, in May, on "Torts; or the Wrongs, independent of Contracts, for which the Law provides a private remedy."

4. PROFESSOR BASIL L. GILDERSLEEVE, PH. D., LL. D., LATE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA,

Will lecture during the months of October and November, thrice every week, on "Greek Lyric Poetry."

5. PRESIDENT DANIEL C. GILMAN, LL. D.,

Will lecture in January to the Associates and Fellows, on "The Modern Development of University Education, especially with reference to the present condition of this country."

6. PROFESSOR JULIUS E. HILGARD, OF THE U. S. COAST SURVEY, WASHINGTON, PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE.

Will deliver twenty lectures, commencing in April, on "The Methods and Results of extended Territorial Surveys carried on in America and in Europe."

7. PROFESSOR JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL, D. C. L., LL. D., OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY,

Will lecture daily, during the month of February, on "Dante." This course, with "Dante" as a central theme, will discuss "The Literature of the Romance Languages during the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries."

8. PROFESSOR JOHN W. MALLET, PH. D., LL. D., OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA,

Will deliver a course of twenty lectures, commencing in May, on "The Waste Products of Chemical Manufacture."

Will deliver twenty lectures, in April, on "The application of Statistics to Vital and Social Science and their Graphic Illustration."

13. PROFESSOR WILLIAM D. WHITNEY, PH. D., LL. D., OF YALE COLLEGE,

Will deliver twenty lectures, in March and April, on topics in Comparative Philology.

His course for 1876-7 will be on "the Historical Development of the Inflective Structure of Indo-European Language." The second course, in 1877-8, probably on "the Sanskrit Literature;" and the third, in 1878-9, on "the Asiatic Religions."

IN RESPECT TO THE ADMISSION OF SCHOLARS.

Three classes of students will be received:—

- A. Matriculants, or candidates for a degree.
- B. Non-matriculants, not candidates for a degree, and devoted to a specialty, like Chemistry, Biology, Mathematics, &c.
- C. Attendants upon separate courses of lectures, whose names will not be enrolled among the students of the University.

Students in any of these groups must satisfy the authorities that they are mature enough in age, character, and acquisitions, to pursue with advantage the special advanced instructions here provided.

To persons at a distance, blank forms of application for admission will be forwarded, upon the return of which they will be advised as to the probability of their admission.

If the authorities are satisfied in respect to the maturity of the candidate, he will be required to pass a special examination in the branches of literature and science which he has hitherto studied, and his place in the University courses will be determined by the result of this examination. A candidate may be admitted who is far advanced in one subject and less prepared in another.

Prior to January, 1877, no distinction will be made between the matriculants and the non-matriculants. In October the terms of matriculation will be announced, and in January the first matriculation will take place. In future years the examination for matriculation will take place at the beginning of the academic year.

Matriculated students will have a right to all the privileges of the University, and especially to compete for its degrees, honors, and prizes. Non-matriculated students will be admitted only to such privileges as pertain to the special departments which they enter.

The diplomas and certificates of institutions which are known to maintain a high standard of scholarship, will have weight with the examiners, but will not be decisive.

Attendants upon lectures will not be examined, but they must satisfy the authorities that they are in earnest in the prosecution of the particular study they take up.

Candidates should not be less than seventeen years of age. Special facilities for study are afforded to graduates of colleges and other advanced students.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

In accordance with the request of the founder of the University, TWENTY scholarships, called the "Hopkins Scholarships," freeing the holders from charges for tuition, will be opened at the commencement of the University, to young men who need this assistance. Probably an equal number of scholarships will be annually bestowed.

The scholarships will be distributed among such candidates "from the States of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina, as may be most deserving of choice, because of their character and intellectual promise."

No publicity will be given to names of those who are appointed or rejected, but a private announcement will be sent to each successful candidate.

These scholarships may be held for four years; but are liable to be forfeited because of deficiency in scholarship, or of unworthy conduct.

The holders of these scholarships will not be exempted from the special charges usually made in laboratories for materials, etc., or from payments for special personal instruction in case it is required.

The regulations for appointments in future years will not be decided at present.

Five scholarships, to be known as the "University Scholarships," freeing the holders from charges for tuition, will be awarded to those candidates who shall pass the best competitive examination on the studies requisite for admission to the University. These scholarships shall be open to young men from any part of the country; and may be held for four years, provided that the holders continue to give evidence which is satisfactory to the Faculty of their high scholarship and honorable character. The names of the successful competitors will be publicly announced.

FELLOWSHIPS.

One of the most distinctive features of this foundation, is the extent to which the system of Fellowships for graduate scholars has been carried.

In April, 1876, the Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University, wishing to extend the advantages of the foundation to graduates of colleges and advanced scholars from any place, offered ten Fellowships or Graduate Scholarships, yielding $500 a year and renewable, to be bestowed for excellence in any of the following subjects:

PHILOLOGY,	MATHEMATICS,
LITERATURE,	ENGINEERING,
HISTORY,	PHYSICS,
ETHICS AND METAPHYSICS,	CHEMISTRY,
POLITICAL SCIENCE,	NATURAL HISTORY.

The offer was made in the following terms:

CONDITIONS.

The object of this foundation is to give to scholars of promise the opportunity to prosecute further studies, under favorable circumstances, and likewise to open a career for those who propose to follow the pursuit of literature or science. The University expects to be benefited by their presence and influence, and by their occasional services; from among the number it hopes to secure some of its permanent teachers.

1. The applications must be made in writing prior to June 1, 1876. The decision of the Trustees will doubtless be made within a few days subsequently.
2. The candidates must give evidence of a liberal education (such as the diploma of a college of good repute); of decided proclivity toward a special line of study (such as an example of some scientific or literary work already performed); and of upright character (such as a testimonial from some instructor)

3. The value of each Fellowship will be five hundred dollars, payable in three sums, viz: $100, October 1; $200, January 1; $200, June 1. In case of resignation, promotion, or other withdrawal from the fellowship, payments will be made for the time during which the office may have been actually held.

4. Every holder of a Fellowship will be expected to render some services to the institution as an Examiner, to give all his influence for the promotion of scholarship and good order, and in general to co-operate in upholding the efficiency of the University, as circumstances may suggest. He must reside in Baltimore during the academic year.

5. He will be expected to devote his time to the prosecution of special study, (not professional,) with the approval of the President, and before the close of the year, to give evidence of progress by the preparation of a thesis, the completion of a research, the delivery of a lecture, or by some other method.

6. He may give instruction, with the approval of the President, by lectures or otherwise, to persons connected with the University,—but he may not engage in teaching elsewhere.

7. He may be re-appointed at the end of the year.

8. These regulations are prescribed for the first year only.

Out of one hundred and fifty-two applications, one hundred and seven eligible candidates were selected, comprising graduates from forty-six different colleges, viz: Alabama, Amherst, Arcadia, Baltimore City College, Bowdoin, College of the City of New York, Columbia, Concordia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Delaware, Dickinson, Dublin University, (Ireland,) Earlham, Georgetown, Hamilton, Harvard, Haverford, Hiawasse, Iowa, Lafayette, Mass. Institute of Technology, McGee, (Ireland,) Mercer University, Muskingum, North Western University, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Randolph Macon, Richmond, Rutgers, Stevens Institute, St. Johns, Union, University of California, University of Göttingen, (Germany,) University of Heidelberg, (Germany,) University of Maryland, University of Michigan, University of the South, University of Virginia, Washington and Lee, Wesleyan College, Wesleyan University, Williams, Yale. These applications were referred to Specialists in each department, who examined carefully the claims of each candidate and reported to the Trustees the persons worthy of receiving the appointment.

Having found it difficult to decide upon ten, when so many advanced students had presented themselves, the Trustees appointed twenty Fellows, whose names are given on a previous page.

THE MARYLAND STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, established by the School Law of 1865, and re-organized under the Law of 1868, is intended for the "instruction and practice of Teachers in the science of education, the art of teaching and the mode of governing schools."

Each county is entitled to send two students for each of its representatives in the General Assembly.

Persons desiring to enter the school should make application to the Board of School Commissioners of their respective counties. The Law requires the appointees to be not less than sixteen years of age if young women, and not less than seventeen if young men. They should have a good elementary education, and must "file a written declaration that their object in obtaining admission is to qualify themselves as Public School Teachers, and that it is their intention to engage in the profession of teaching within the State."

The School year of nine months is divided into three sessions. The Fall Session commences on the first Tuesday in September. The Winter Session commences on the last Monday in November. The Spring Session begins on the first Monday in March, and closes on the last Friday in May.

Students appointed by the County School Boards or by the Baltimore City Board, are under no expense for tuition, books and school stationery.

In addition to the regular appointees, a limited number of students will be received of the proper age and scholastic acquirements, who shall pay twenty-five dollars per session for tuition, and purchase their own text-books. Such students will not be required to file the declaration referred to above.

THE MODEL SCHOOL, connected with the Normal School, receives girls from five to sixteen years of age, for instruction in elementary branches and studies preparatory to entering the advanced classes of the Normal School.

Terms $60 per Scholastic year. Apply to the Principal of the State Normal School.

This School was founded in 1864, and the building purchased from the Society of Friends. The total cost of the building and necessary changes and improvements was over $20,000.

A charge of $1.50 per month is made to each pupil for tuition, and the whole support of the School, from 1864 to 1872 was derived from this source, and from liberal contributions from private citizens.

In 1872 the Legislature of Maryland appropriated an annual sum of $2,000 toward the support of the School, and has given the same sum annually since that time.

Nearly one hundred pupils of the school are engaged in teaching Colored Schools in the State of Maryland and other Southern States.

The demand for colored teachers have been so great that very few of those now teaching remained long enough to be able to pass an examination for a certificate, but all reports of them speak well of their behaviour, and of reasonable success in their work.

A Library of 1,000 volumes belongs to the school, and the scholars are allowed free use of the books, and are also permitted to take out one book at a time and retain it for one week. The books comprise standard works of History, Literature and reference, as well as juvenile and works of English prose fiction.

The Library was the result of private contributions entirely, and is dependent upon such sources for its increase, the means at the disposal of the Trustees not permitting the purchase of books.

The Trustees hold, in addition to the school building, about $4,000 of invested funds, for the benefit of the school.

The aim of this school is to fit young colored people to fill positions as teachers of colored primary schools, and to this end the pupils of the most advanced class are required to assist in the instruction of the lower classes, under the supervision of the regular school instructors.

LIBRARIES.

PEABODY INSTITUTE,

Corner of Mt. Vernon and Washington Places.

This Institute was founded by George Peabody, a native of the town of Danvers, now called Peabody, Mass. He was born February 18th, 1795, and received an ordinary common school education. In 1811 he joined his elder brother, Daniel Peabody, in a dry-goods shop in Newburyport, Mass., but soon after they were burned out, and he accepted an offer of his uncle, John Peabody, who had settled in Georgetown, D. C., and became his commercial assistant. After spending two years with his uncle he entered into partnership with Mr. Elisha Riggs of Georgetown. In 1815 the house was removed to Baltimore, at 215½ Market Street, to a building then called Old Congress Hall, and there it was that he gained his first $5000. Seven years later the extent of their business justified them in establishing branch houses in Philadelphia and New York. In 1830 Mr. Riggs retired, and left Mr. Peabody senior partner and virtual director. In 1827, while still a partner, he went to London. He soon withdrew, however, from his original business, and established himself, with others, in London as a merchant and money broker.

Among his many benevolent acts, he founded, in 1857, the Peabody Institute of Baltimore, by appointing twenty-five of our prominent citizens as Trustees, and placing in their hands, in several gifts, a total endowment of $1,400,000.

A lot of ground, 174 feet 5 inches by 152 feet, the present site, was purchased, and the first wing commenced in 1858.

This wing, built of white marble from Baltimore County, was completed in 1861, and cost, with furniture, $182,000. The building was ready for use in May, 1861, and soon after the first Librarian of the Institute, Rev. Dr. John G. Morris, occupied his office there. The first books received were the works of John Adams, in ten volumes, presented by Hon. Anthony Kennedy. This year was devoted, by the Librarian, to the preparation of an Index of books to be purchased, comprehending about 50,000 volumes, to form the nucleus of a library of reference.

In October, 1866, the Library was first formally opened to the public, with a Librarian and two assistants. The Library now contains 62,000 volumes, and 8,444 pamphlets, and takes 300 serials of different nations.

The following is a comparison of the number of readers and volumes used for the past five years:

In 1871—2,582	persons used	17,104	volumes.
“ 1872—2,951	“ “	21,148	“
“ 1873—3,018	“ “	24,007	“
“ 1874—2,381	“ “	32,944	“
“ 1875—2,095	“ “	30,373	“

Much of this falling off in number of readers, compared to number of books, may, no doubt, be attributed to the fact that generally but a single volume of a set has been given at one time to a reader. Not more than one-eleventh of the reading here is fiction. The library is much used by Teachers and Students of the different Educational Institutions, who avail themselves of the collections of English Literature, Greek and Latin Classics, and of the works of Science which are necessary in their studies.

The Library is kept open in the winter from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M., and in the summer from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

It is a reference library and free to any one over fifteen years of age.

The present Officers of the Library are:

N. H. MORISON, LL. D.,	Provost.
P. R. UHLER,	Librarian.
A. L. STORKE,	Assistant Librarian.
ANDREW TROEGER,	Assistant in Library.
JOHN PARKER,	“ “ “
WM. H. KEITH,	“ “ “
RICHARD C. ESTEPS,	Attendant “ “
FRANCIS D. CRUDEN,	“ “ “

Lectures.—Very liberal provision has been made for supplying the public with a yearly course of lectures. Distinguished men, in every department of literature, science and art, have been engaged every year; and the increased interest in subjects formerly considered too abstruse for popular lectures; shows what a means of culture they have been to the community. The Trustees have carried out Mr. Peabody's design as nearly as possible in making the lectures almost free, $1.50 being all that is charged for an entire course of over thirty lectures, or less than five cents for each lecture.

Conservatory of Music. 34 Mulberry Street.—Symphony Concerts were of rare occurrence in Baltimore before the establishment of the Conservatory. It must be admitted, that the first were performed to a very unappreciative audience. But now the standard of popular taste demands the very highest in this department of Art, and under the direction of Prof. Asger Hamerik, the Conservatory is in a very flourishing condition.

The Officers of Instruction are:

ASGER HAMERIK, Director,	Theory of Music.
PROF. PAOLO BARALDI,	Vocal Instruction.
MME. N. FALK-AUERBACH,	Piano-Forte Instruction.
PROF. B. COURLAENDER,	Piano-Forte Instruction.
PROF. H. A. ALLEN,	Violin, Organ and Piano.

Gallery of Art.—This branch of the Institute, although, as yet, in an incipient state, has been most amply provided for. The series of rooms connected together on the second floor of the building, when completed, will form one of the most extensive Art Galleries in the country, and will be respectable, even when compared with the larger galleries of Europe. It will occupy the entire second story of the present building, and the north and south fronts on the same floor, in the new building, enclosing the Library on three sides, and forming a suite of connected rooms 470 feet in length. Besides this immense gallery, there will be a large number of rooms in the third story available for art purposes.

Class Lectures.—A course of Class Lectures has been delivered each year on the French and German Literature, and on Physics and Natural History, intended to supply students with a college course, not elsewhere provided for in the city, at very low rates.

MARYLAND ACADEMY OF SCIENCES,

32¹/₂ Mulberry Street, opposite Cathedral.

The present Academy of Sciences was organized on the 22nd of January, 1863, and incorporated March 15th, 1867. The meetings were held every fortnight at the house of some member of the Academy, until April, 1867, when they were held at the building of the Faculty of Art and Sciences of the University of Maryland, No. 32 Mulberry Street.

In 1868 a room was rented in the Chatard Building, S. W. corner of Lexington and Charles Streets, and a Museum and Library were commenced. In 1873 the Academy obtained the lease of a lot of ground on Mulberry Street, from the University of Maryland, and erected a building thereon.

The objects of the Academy are to form a Museum of the Natural History of Maryland, to be so arranged as to exhibit a life-series of every creature, which has in the past, or does now, belong to the natural territory of the State. To publish Memoirs upon these objects; and to illustrate their structure and history as connected with the areas in which they live, by means of lectures and public explanations.

So much of this has already been done, as to place before the public a large part of the animated objects of the State in the Museum of the Academy, and a reference Library of 1,000 volumes. Lectures have been given during the Fall and Winter of the last three years by several of its members. These lectures and explanations have been generally well attended, and have excited much interest in the community.

The Museum of the Academy is open to the public, daily, (Sundays excepted,) from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.

The present officers are as follows:

PHILIP R. UHLER, B. S., 218 Hoffman Street, President.

Rev. JOHN G. MORRIS, D. D., Lutherville, Baltimore, Co. Md., Vice-President.

Rev. E. A. DALRYMPLE, S. T. D., 32 Mulberry Street, Corresponding Secretary.

JOHN R. UHLER, M. D., 234 West Fayette Street, Recording Secretary.

EDWARD STABLER, JR., Sun Building, 3 South Street, Reporting Secretary.

CHARLES L. OUDESLUYS, 67 Exchange Place, Treasurer.

ANTHONY SMITH, 123 Park Avenue, Librarian.

FERDINAND E. CHATARD, JR., M. D., 114 Park Avenue, Curator.

OTTO LUGGER, 112 Mulberry Street, Custodian.

CITY LIBRARY.

By an Ordinance passed November 5th, 1874, it was enacted that a City Librarian should be appointed when and as other City Officers are appointed.

The Librarian is to take under his charge and keeping all the books and documents of every description, and the archives, records, papers and proceedings of the corporation, except those relating to titles of the City Property, also all ordinances resolutions and proceedings of the City Council, &c., also all books, papers and memorials relating to Baltimore, from its inception to the present time.

These books are for the use of the City Officers and the public generally, and cannot be taken out except by the officers.

There are many very old and valuable books in this Library, that have been collected from the different public offices in the City.

The books from 1797 to 1875 have been arranged according to date, and comprise all ordinances and resolutions passed by the City Council, together with proceedings of both branches. All annual and other messages of the Mayor and the reports of all the City Officers. By an ordinance passed May 9th, 1876, the City Librarian is required to furnish all Officers of the City Government, with the required printed matter and stationery, for which he is to make contracts, on the 1st of November, of each year.

JOHN S. BROWN, City Hall, Librarian.
SAMUEL D. SMITH, City Hall, Assistant Librarian.

MARYLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY LIBRARY.

Corner of St. Paul and Stratford Streets.

ON the 27th of January, 1844, some eighteen or twenty gentlemen met in a room of the old Post Office Building, at the N. E. corner of Fayette and North Streets. The gentlemen present were, John Spear Smith, Robert Gilmor, Sr., Brantz Mayer, Charles F. Mayer, Bernard U. Campbell, John L. Carey, &c. &c.

The object of the meeting was to organize a society for the purpose of collecting the scattered materials of the early history of this State, (Maryland,) and for other collateral objects. The organization was completed at the first meeting, the matter having been maturely considered in advance.

The Constitution and By-Laws having been prepared, they were unanimously adopted.

At the next meeting, held February 1st, 1844, John Spear Smith was elected President; John Van Lear McMahon,—the Historian of Maryland,—Vice-President; Brantz Mayer, Corresponding Secretary; Sebastian F. Streeter, Recording Secretary; and Stephen Collins, Librarian.

The establishment of this Society gave a stimulus to the literary taste in Baltimore, and caused nearly all the gentlemen in professional and mercantile life, noted for cultivation, to join it. In the spring of 1848 the Society moved into the Athenæum Building, corner of Saratoga and St. Paul Streets, which is held for it in perpetuity by trustees, under a charter granted by the Legislature of Maryland, December, 1845.

The old Baltimore Library Company and the Mercantile Library Association united with them in collecting subscriptions from the public to pay for the building, and at its inauguration, October 23rd, 1848, it was all paid for.

When the Baltimore Library became unable to sustain itself in the year 1855, its superb collection of books was conveyed to the Historical Society, with the understanding, that the rights and privileges of this Society were to extend to the members of the Baltimore Company, and its right in the Athenæum fell to this Society as the survivor. The collections in all departments had increased rapidly, and comprised some very valuable articles.

After removing to the building, the Fine Arts was added as a kindred pursuit, to be cherished by the Society, and a large gallery was built for the accommodation of the pictures, and yearly exhibitions of such meritorious works as might be obtained from artists and collectors. With the profits of these exhibitions a number of copies of master-pieces of the Italian School were purchased.

In 1867, Mr. Peabody endowed the Society with a gift of $20,000.

The Library contains 13,000 volumes of very select books, besides 146 volumes of pamphlets, arranged in classes, and 700 not yet arranged; also a great number of manuscripts; one of the most complete sets of United States Documents in existence, and by far the largest collection of early Maryland Newspapers that can be found anywhere.

The Library was originally a circulating one, but has gradually changed into a reference library, and since the transfer of the Baltimore Library Company, has been open to the public from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., as a reference library, the members only being allowed to draw out books. But moderate use is made of it in this way, not more than 250 being taken out per year. There are at present about 200 members, and the annual subscription fee is $5. The average number per year who use the Library is about 1,000.

The present Officers are:

JOHN H. B. LATROBE,	President.
HON. GEO. WM. BROWN,	Vice-President.
REV. J. G. MORRIS, D. D.	" "
HENRY STOCKBRIDGE,	" "
REV. E. A. DALRYMPLE,	Corresponding Secretary.

JOHN G. GATCHELL,	Curator of Cabinet.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION OF BALTIMORE.

Corner of St. Paul and Saratoga Streets.

IN November, 1839, four or five clerks held a consultation on the possibility of providing a place of evening resort, above the level of the oyster room or theatre, and in which clerks could have a more extended range of reading than their home libraries furnished.

The only public library at that time was the Old Baltimore Library, which did not meet the wants of this particular class. Accordingly the project was talked over with other clerks, and a committee appointed to draft a Constitution and By-Laws, which were adopted by the twenty-seven members.

The following is a list of the first officers: President, J. Morrison Harris; Vice-President, George L. Wight; Secretary, George R. W. Alnutt; Treasurer, Frank Dunnington.

The Association was incorporated in January, 1842. Clerks only could become active members, by paying an initiation fee of two dollars, and an annual subscription of three dollars, in advance. Merchants and others could become honorary members, by the payment of five dollars per annum. But the right of suffrage extended only to those for whom it was primarily intended, viz: Clerks. At the end of the first two months their success was beyond their most sanguine expectations.

The plan of receiving special deposits of books, with the understanding, that a notice of three months should be given before they could be withdrawn, was adopted for a short time, but was finally abolished in 1844, and the books returned to their owners.

The first course of Lectures was instituted December 1st, 1840, on which occasion Hon. J. Q. Adams delivered a lecture on the subject of "Society and Civilization."

This course, which proved to be a great pecuniary success, was attractive and very instructive, and was followed by others; and the Association has ever since taken advantage of every opportunity to provide for lectures and readings of the first class, for the members and the people of Baltimore in general.

At its organization, the Association occupied rooms on the corner of Baltimore and Holliday Streets, and remained in the same until shortly after their incorporation in 1842, when they moved to the corner of Baltimore and Hanover Streets.

Having an opportunity of disposing of their lease to advantage, they moved to Charles Street, near Baltimore, February 1st, 1846.

Finally, they took possession of their present apartments in the Athenæum Building, which was formally dedicated October 23rd, 1848, and for which this Association, together with the Historical Society and Baltimore Library Company, had solicited subscriptions from the citizens of Baltimore.

The Library is open during the summer months from 9 A. M., to 10 P. M., and during the winter from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M.

In January, 1873, it was opened on Sundays from 2 to 10 P. M., but the small attendance did not justify this innovation, and in June of the same year its privileges were again restricted to the secular days of the week. The average Sunday attendance during the time that it was open, was 29.

The use of the Library is extended to the families of the members, and being both a circulating and reference library, subscribers may either take the books home and read them around their own fireside; or the poor clerk, who has no congenial companions at his boarding-house, may enjoy them in the comfortable reading-rooms of the Association.

Though there are but 1,648 subscribers, the number of visitors during each year is from 15,000 to 20,000; and the circulation of books about 35,000.

Subscribers are allowed to take out one volume at a time, or two of a set, and are requested to name any book that they think would be an acquisition to the Library. It now contains 32,000 volumes, exclusive of 2,500 duplicates.

Of the 32,000 volumes, 600 are in foreign languages. There are 1,200 volumes on scientific subjects. Seventy-five per cent. of the books borrowed are English prose fiction.

There were several attempts made by this Association to start Classes in French and German, but without success.

The present terms of membership are:

Active, (Clerks,)	$5.00	per annum.
Proprietors,	6.00	" "
Ladies and Minors,	6.00	" "
Honorary,	6.00	" "
Life,	50.00
Perpetual,	100.00

School boys over 16 years of age are counted as active members.

The Officers are:

H. CLAY SMITH,	President.
JAMES M. DRILL,	Vice-President.
T. A. SETH,	Corresponding Secretary.
J. E. CLOUGH,	Recording Secretary.
A. C. RAWLINGS,	Treasurer.
JNO. W. M. LEE,	Librarian.
JNO. G. GATCHELL,	Assistant Librarian.

MARYLAND INSTITUTE, FOR THE PROMOTION OF THE MECHANIC ARTS.

Baltimore Street, opposite Harrison.

THIS name has been applied to two different associations which have existed in this City. The first was primarily due to the exertions of John H. B. Latrobe, Fielding Lucas, Jr., and others, who called a meeting in 1825. This Society was incorporated in 1826, (January 10th,) and continued with great success until February 7th, 1835, when the building occupied by the Institute, called the Athenæum, and located at the S. W. corner of St. Paul and Saratoga Streets, was consumed by fire, and the entire properties of the old Maryland Institute were destroyed.

On the 30th of November, 1847, a call was issued, signed by Benjamin S. Benson and 69 others, for a meeting of all persons favorable to forming a Mechanics' Institute. At this meeting, which was held December 1st, 1847, John H. B. Latrobe delivered an address explanatory of the purposes for which the meeting had convened.

At this meeting 80 names were enrolled, and a committee appointed to draft the form of a Constitution.

This committee made a report on the 22nd of the same month, and the Constitution submitted was unanimously adopted. The first election for officers and a Board of Managers took place on the 12th of January, 1848, and on the 19th of the same month the board met and organized.

Its first exhibition was held in Washington Hall, in October, 1848, and met with great success, as did also those of the two following years, held in the same place.

After the first year of the existence of the Institute, the Managers made great efforts to procure a site for a building, adapted to their varied wants. The enterprise of constructing the building on the site of the upper Centre Market owes much to the energy of Benjamin S. Benson, to the citizens of Baltimore, who, having at heart the success of the Institute, subscribed liberally to stock in the hall, and to the Mayor and City Councils of Baltimore, who assented to the use of the site, and appropriated $15,000 to the enterprise.

The character of the Institute necessitated the collection of books, and by donations and purchases the nucleus of the present Library was formed. When the Institute moved from the old Post Office building into the new one in 1851, the library, which then consisted of about 2,500 volumes, was placed in the third story, but the inconveniences which attended so elevated a position necessitated its removal to its present location. At this time it was kept open from 4 to 6 and from 7 to 9 P. M., and the report states there were 592 readers who used the library. The library was, and is now, supported almost entirely by the subscriptions of its members. The price at first was two dollars initiation fee, and three dollars per annum for senior members, and half of these prices for junior members, which ultimately included ladies. At present the fees are five dollars per annum for senior, and three dollars for junior and lady members.

In 1857, the late W. Prescott Smith assumed the chairmanship of the Library Committee, and, under his directions, extraordinary efforts were made in behalf of the library. Subscriptions of money and contributions of books were solicited. The result was, that a cash fund of $5,000 was raised, and 1,500 volumes and 650 pamphlets contributed. The number of volumes had increased, at the end of the third year, to 10,759. The growth of the library has been very slow. There are at present 17,184 volumes and 1,600 readers, with a weekly average issue of 850 books.

The relative number of books read may be stated as follows: Fiction, three-fourths; History and Biography, one-eighteenth; Science and Art, one-twenty-fourth; and the remainder Miscellaneous.

The Library is now open in summer from 9 A. M. to 8 P. M., and in winter from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Members and their families have the privilege of drawing one book at a time, and can keep the same two weeks.

The payment of the fees also entitles the members to the privileges of the Exhibitions, Lectures, and (by payment of other small fees,) to any of the Schools of the Institute.

In 1851 the first Exhibition was held in the present Hall, Hon. John P. Kennedy delivered the opening address. The exhibition was very successful. It was visited by the President of the United States, his Cabinet, and other distinguished persons. These annual exhibitions continued to be successful for several years, and were largely depended upon as the sources of revenue from which to support the other departments, but owing to the monotony which is sure to result from an oft-repeated occurrence, and also to the paralyzing results of the war, the receipts from exhibitions gradually dwindled, until at present they are an expense to the Institute. No doubt they will shortly be entirely abolished or modified into biennial or triennial occurrences free to members.

Lectures.—Each winter since the inauguration of the Institute, a course of Lectures has been provided for the membership, which have embraced some of the most eminent names in the professional and scientific world. This has always been one of the most attractive inducements to membership, and the large crowds which have always attended attest the interest of the members.

School of Chemistry.—In 1852, in honor of a liberal donation from Hon. Thomas Swann, it was resolved to establish a “Swann Professorship” of Chemistry.

It was placed in charge of Campbell Morfit, who resigned before anything practical could be accomplished. Dr. Snowden Piggott, was then appointed who formed a class of 63 students, to whom 36 lectures were delivered, the price for the course being $1.00.

This department is now in charge of Professor Wm. P. TONRY, under whose care it is making considerable progress.

The course now consists of 25 lectures, one delivered each Tuesday and Friday evening, at 7.30 p. m., commencing November 3rd, and continuing till the course is completed.

Book-Keeping and Penmanship.—A class in Book-keeping and Penmanship was established in 1856, which at first was quite successful, but afterwards fell into a very languishing condition. It is at present however flourishing with over 100 pupils.

A ladies class was formed a year ago, about 30 pupils attending. The school is in charge of Professor JAMES R. WEBSTER, Terms \$5.00, for a session of 4 months. School open Tuesdays and Thursdays, at 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ p. m. for males, and at 5 p. m. for females.

School of Design.—This School was first opened in the present building in the winter of 1851, with Ross Winans, as Chairman of Committee; Wm. Minifie, Principal. There were at first 332 pupils, and the school was mainly intended for the Junior Members of the Institute, who were at first admitted free. In 1856, a day school was established for the benefit of Ladies, 63 pupils attended at first and the school has been very successful ever since. Many of the lady graduates are earning good salaries by the practice of the Art which they learned here. In 1857 the first Peabody Premiums were distributed amounting to $500.00 with which sum Mr. Peabody made arrangements to invest this department annually. The night school has steadily increased in numbers there being at present about 450 pupils, and about 75 in the day school. A class for instruction in modelling in clay has been recently formed and promises to develope much talent.

Prof. D. A. WOODWARD, is Principal of this School, and is assisted by a corps of competent Assistant teachers. Tuition fees for the session $3.00.

Music School.—This department of the Institute is under the direction of Professors J. & D. MAY, and offers great advantages to students in the various branches of Music, at a very moderate cost.

Hours of tuition—from 8 A. M. to 12 M.; 1 P. M. to 5 P. M., and 6 P. M. to 10 P. M.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS.

Gay Street, near Fayette.

THE subject of establishing a Library in connection with this Order was first suggested by James L. Ridgely, in 1836, and the idea was embodied into a practical form by a set of resolutions, which were presented for the consideration of the Order, by Isaac D. Williamson, February 10th, 1840.

A committee was appointed to visit each Lodge, and see what they would give in money or in contributions of books. On the 9th of December, 1840, enough material had been collected to establish the Library on a permanent basis. Accordingly, at this date, the joint standing committee was fully organized by the election of permanent officers, and the adoption of By-Laws and rules and regulations for its government.

The Librarians, two for each week, were elected from the committee, who gave their time without compensation.

Donations of books and money were made from Lodges and members and many prominent citizens who had no special connection with the Order. The Library also derived assistance from public lectures, concerts, excursions, &c., and in March, 1846, it was decided to secure a permanent revenue by taxing each member twenty-five cents per year for its support. The books are very systematically arranged and thoroughly classified.

The number of volumes in the English department is 10,835, and in the German department 9,000, making a total of 19,835. The number of volumes taken out during the year is 15,753, making a weekly average of 302 volumes.

The Librarian is A. T. KING.

GENERAL SOCIETY FOR AID OF MECHANICS.

ALLGEMEINEN ARBEITER KRANKEN-UNTERSTUTZ-UNGS-VEREINS.

Fayette Street, between Howard and Entaro Streets.

THIS Society was formed January 3rd, 1851, and its Library received its first impetus about this time from a gift of an old library, of a few hundred volumes, by a Society of the same kind which had recently disbanded. It now contains about 3,000 volumes of German standard and light literature.

The Society consists of 1,000 members, who each pay twenty cents per year towards the support of the Library. The circulation is from 10 to 12,000 per year. The Librarian, Mr. PAUL FRANZKE, is at the Library every evening, and allows the members to take as many books as they want, with one restriction, that they must be returned in two weeks.

LIBRARY COMPANY OF THE BALTIMORE BAR.

S. E. Corner Saratoga and St. Paul Streets.

THIS Library was formed April 13th, 1840, and incorporated January 8th, 1841. The charter expired in 1870, but was renewed the same year with unlimited time. It is intended for the exclusive use of members of the Baltimore Bar, and books cannot be taken from the Library Room, except for use in Court, and then only by a member or Judge of some Court sitting in Baltimore, or upon a written order from such member or Judge, and the name of the book and borrower must be recorded by the Librarian. Volumes thus used must be returned at the adjournment of the Court for the day.

There are 7,000 volumes at present, exclusive of pamphlets, and this number increases about 100 volumes each year.

Among the pamphlets are Law Reports, Common Law, Equity, Statutes, Irish Reports of Equity and Common Law, National Bankrupt Reports, Insurance Law Journal, American Law, Cox's Criminal Law Cases, American Law Register, American Law Review, and Solicitors' Journal.

The Library is supported by subscriptions of its members but there have been some donations. Sixty-six members first signed the Constitution, and the association has now 280 members.

Judge George Wm. Brown, of the City Court, was the originator, and Hon. J. V. L. McMahon presided at the first meeting, with Judge George W. Dobbin as Secretary.

The present Librarian is DANIEL T. CHANDLER.

MARYLAND STATE NORMAL SCHOOL LIBRARY.

Corner of Lafayette and Carrollton Avenues.

THE foundation of this Library was laid as soon as the School itself had an existence in 1864, and although there are at present but 1,700 volumes, every book has been so judiciously selected, that teachers and pupils will find on its shelves almost every work of reference that they need.

This Library is also especially rich in books of literature and science.

FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Masonic Temple, Charles Street, between Lexington and Saratoga.

THE Library of this Society was packed up in boxes and stored away when they moved from their old hall on St. Paul Street to their present hall in the Masonic Temple, and has never been opened, so that the Society has no library in use. It consists almost entirely of books relating to the Order.

LIBRARY AT THE FRIENDS' ELEMENTARY AND HIGH SCHOOL.

Lombard Street, near Eutaw.

THE Library belongs to the Friends' Literary Association, which meets every week in the lecture-room of the Institution. Though the Association is a very old one, and they had a number of books previous to the formation of the Library, it was not actually founded till 1843.

The object of the Society was to furnish suitable reading for the members of the congregation. Of late years its privileges have been extended to the pupils of the Elementary and High School. Mr. E. M. LAMB, Principal of the School, is the Librarian.

There are 2,800 volumes, to which the pupils have access upon the payment of a small sum.

IMPROVED ORDER OF RED MEN'S LIBRARY.

20 North Paca Street.

THIS Library which contains about 4,000 volumes of well selected books, both standard works and works of fiction, is exclusively for the use of the members of the different Lodges of this Order. It is supported by a per centage from the revenue of each Lodge. Is open every evening, (except Sunday,) from $7\frac{1}{2}$ to 10 P. M.

JOSEPH E. BENSON, 192 East Madison Street, is the present Librarian.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION LIBRARY.

8 North Charles Street.

ABOUT sixteen years ago this Library was started by an appropriation, which was made by the Association for the purpose of purchasing books. A number of donations have also been received, and there is now a collection of about 1,500 volumes, rather miscellaneous in its character. Besides this, the Association subscribes for, or is furnished with, about 125 newspapers and periodicals.

Nothing has been done of late in the way of increasing the Library, because of the limited amount of room, but it is hoped, that as soon as the Association moves into its new rooms, and ample provision made for its accommodation, some steps will be taken to make this a more attractive feature. H. P. ADAMS, Librarian.

CONCORDIA CLUB LIBRARY.

8, 10 and 12 South Eutaw Street.

THIS Library was founded in 1852 by Dr. George Fein, of Germany. It is supported by the Club by appropriating a certain part of the regular dues.

There are at present about 3,000 volumes in the Library, and a constant circulation of over 400 volumes. Nearly all of the books are in the German language, and they include all classes of works, especially in the department of literature.

The Library is open daily. Mr. G. SCHWECKENDICK is the Librarian.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND.

By an Act of the Legislature of Maryland in 1798, a corporation was formed, under the name and title of "The Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland," and authority given for it to elect twelve persons to be styled "The Medical Board of Examiners for the State of Maryland," whose duty was declared to be, to grant licenses to those qualified to practice Medicine and Surgery; those licensed being required to pay, to the treasurer of the Faculty, a sum not exceeding ten dollars, to be decided or ascertained by the Faculty. A penalty of fifty dollars was also prescribed for each offence for practicing without such license. This Act was not as effective as its framers had expected, and, in 1807, the Legislature passed an Act, making ample provision for the establishment of a College, in the City of Baltimore, for the promotion of Medical knowledge, the name and title of the same to be, "The College of Medicine of Maryland."

By another Act, of 1812, this College was authorized to constitute, appoint and annex to itself three other colleges or faculties, viz: a Faculty of Divinity; a Faculty of Law, and a Faculty of the Arts and Sciences; and these four colleges or faculties were constituted a University, under the name of "The University of Maryland."

On the 6th day of January, 1813, the Medical Faculty of "The College of Medicine of Maryland," consisting of the following distinguished Physicians of Baltimore, viz: Dr. John B. Davidge, Dr. James Cocke, Dr. Nathaniel Potter, Dr. Elisha De Butts, Dr. Samuel Baker, Dr. William Gibson, Dr. Richard Wilmot Hall, and Dr. Henry Wilkens, convened, and proceeded to annex to itself the other three faculties specified in the Act.

The Faculty of Law was made up of David Hoffman, William Pinkney, Robert Goodloe Harper, John Purviance, Robert Smith, and Nathaniel Williams.

The Faculty of Divinity consisted of Rev. Frederick Beasley, Rt. Rev. James Kemp, D. D., Rev. James Inglis, D. D., Rev. J. Daniel Kurtz, D. D., Rev. George Roberts, Rev. Geo. Dashiel, and Rev. John Glendy.

The Faculty of Arts and Sciences was also filled up with six of the most accomplished scholars in the city.

Hon. Robert Smith was elected first Provost. The present Provost, S. TEACKLE WALLIS, LL. D., was elected on the 20th of September, 1870.

The Faculty of the School of Theology, consisting of six ministers, of different religious denominations, made but one effort for an active existence, by way of a course of Lectures on the Evidences of Christianity, by the late Dr. William E. Wyatt.

The School of Arts and Sciences kept steadily at work for a number of years, and was a school of acknowledged excellence. Of late years it has been superseded by new institutions, and has now ceased to exist as an active corporation.

The School of Law flourished for a few years, but the support it received was meagre, and the lectures were finally discontinued, but its influence upon our present bar is very sensibly felt, and many of the most distinguished leaders received their first instructions in the lecture-rooms of this College.

In 1869, George W. Dobbin and John H. B. Latrobe, Esqs., the only surviving members of the Faculty of Law, succeeded in reviving the Law School by electing George Wm. Brown, Bernard Carter, H. Clay Dallam, and John P. Poe to fill the vacancies. Hon. Robert N. Martin and John A. Inglis, LL. D., were elected Professors, and, on the 1st of February, 1870, the School was re-opened in the University Building, on Mulberry Street, opposite Cathedral. Since that time it has made very satisfactory progress.

The present Board of Instruction consists of—

HON. JOHN A. INGLIS, LL. D., Professor of Commercial Law, Equity, Jurisprudence, &c.

JOHN P. POE, Esq., Professor of Pleading, Practice, Evidence, and International Law.

RICHARD M. VENABLE, Esq., Professor of the Law of Real Estate, Leases and Crimes, and of Constitutional Law.

At the last Commencement, held in the Academy of Music, May 26th, 1876, there were twenty-nine graduates who were duly admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Laws.

The School of Medicine, located on the N. E. corner of Lombard and Greene Streets, is the only one of the four schools which has continuously kept up its organization as an active working institution from its incorporation to the present time. It is one of the oldest schools in the country, ranking, in age, third or fourth among them. In the plan of instruction, Clinical teaching constitutes a most important feature. The Baltimore Infirmary, or University Hospital, the property of and under the exclusive control of the Faculty, is a general Hospital, in which every provision is made with special reference to Clinical teaching. The Baltimore Infirmary, the Marine Hospital of the port, in which all sick sailors coming to the port of Baltimore are treated, always contains a large number of patients, representing the diseases of all parts of the globe. Accommodations are provided, in a building adjoining the Hospital, for twenty-four resident students. To these are assigned wards in the Hospital, and the attendance of the sick, under the daily supervision of the Professors of the University. Under-graduates are permitted to be in constant attendance upon the sick, and to receive, daily, at the bedside, instruction from the Professors. The Maryland Free Dispensary is also under the immediate and sole control of the Faculty of the University.

The present Faculty of Physic is as follows:

NATHAN R. SMITH, M. D., President of the Faculty and Emeritus Professor of Surgery. 89 Saratoga Street.

WILLIAM E. A. AIKIN, M. D., LL. D., Professor of Chemistry and Pharmacy. 178 West Baltimore Street.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY, MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

N. W. Corner Calvert and Saratoga Streets.

ESTABLISHED 1866.

THE Washington University Hospital is connected with and owned by this School.

This Hospital has become one of the great casualty Hospitals of the City of Baltimore, and all cases of accident brought to it, are, when practicable, treated in the presence of the class, thus giving the student the opportunity of becoming familiar with the methods of managing recent injuries.

A limited number of the class are received in the Hospital as Resident Students.

Connected with this Hospital is also a Free General Dispensary. The College Hospital, together with the College Free Dispensaries, furnish ample material for seven Clinics each week.

Clinical instruction, free to all Students of Medicine, is given daily, from 12 M. to 2 P. M. during the vacations.

The Faculty is as follows:

CHARLES W. CHANCELLOR, M. D., Emeritus Professor of Surgery, and President of the Faculty. 174 Myrtle Avenue.

JOSEPH E. CLAGETT, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics. 18 South Eutaw Street.

JOHN F. MONMONIER, M. D., Professor of Diseases of Women and Children. Corner Read and Calvert Streets.

JAMES E. LINDSAY, M. D., Professor of Physiology. 204 North Howard Street.

ABRAM B. ARNOLD, M. D., Professor of the Principles and Practice of Medicine. 7 South High Street.

JOSEPH A. WHITE, M. D., Professor of Eye and Ear Diseases.

COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

N. E. Corner Hanover and Lombard Streets.

CLINICAL and Didactic instruction in this College are so intimately blended as to render the course pre-eminently a practical one.

The students are granted equal privileges with those of other institutions in all the Hospitals and public charities of Baltimore.

The Maryland Lying-in Asylum is under the exclusive control of the College, and superior Clinical advantages are offered in the study of Obstetrics.

The Faculty is as follows:

EDWARD WARREN, M. D., Emeritus Professor of Surgery.
Paris.

THOMAS OPIE, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics. 396 West Fayette Street.

PETER GOOLRICK, M. D., Professor of Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology. S. E. corner Carrollton and Harlem Avenues.

Desire to invite the attention of the Professional and Reading Community to their large and varied stock of Books, in every department of literature. They keep on hand the Latest American and English Publications, and can supply on reasonable notice any Book that is in print.

They have especial arrangements, both in this country and abroad, for filling orders for any Books not on hand, and can insure thorough search for Books that are out of print and scarce.

Johns Hopkins University.—All Books used in any of the departments of the Johns Hopkins University, or written by any of its Professors, Instructors or Lecturers, will be found at our store, or will be supplied on reasonable notice.

Professors, Lecturers and Officers of the University, and Students pursuing full or special courses at the University, or Attendants on the Special Lectures, are invited to call and examine our stock. A Book-store is the natural resort of literary men in moments of leisure, and we desire to make our establishment free to them for information, use of catalogues, inspection of new Books, and recreation. The benefit their presence will confer on us will more than compensate for any trouble or attention bestowed by us.

Teachers of Private and Public Schools, and their Pupils, will, we hope, find it profitable and pleasant to favor us with frequent visits to look over our Books, inspect any they may have heard of or may see; to obtain any information about books or prices that our Catalogues, or our personal information, may enable us to give. We shall be pleased to have the Circulars of all our City Schools left with us for distribution to the public.

We wish them all to remember, that to show Books is and ought to be a pleasure to Booksellers, whether the person looking desires to purchase or only to inspect the volumes.

Their visits will be a pleasure and a stimulus to us in our business, and will entail upon the guests no obligation to purchase.

Our stock of School Books is very large and of great variety, including the Publications of all the leading Publishers of the United States, and all New School Books are sent to us as soon as issued.
